Efforts To Settle Dock Strike Fail

Government Plans Injunction

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—A last-ditch move to settle the Atlantic and Gulf Coast waterfront strike collapsed today and the government planned to apply tomorrow for a strike-stopping court injunction.

The striking International Longshoremen's Assn. Ind. promised in advance to obey such a court order. A return to work on the docks Monday was indicated.

A presidential inquiry board worked tonight to finish a report on the strike issues and planned to file it at the White House tomorrow morning.

This is required before President Eisenhower, acting under the Taft-Hartley law's national emergency procedures, can order the Justice Department to move into court for an 80-day injunction against continuing the walkout.

Paralyzes Ports
The eight-day strike has paralyzed East and Gulf ports, tied up an estimated 200 ships and idled 60,000 dockworkers.

Director Joseph F. Finnegan of the Federal Mediation Service arranged during the day for representatives of the New York Shipping Assn. and the union to meet with him in a final effort for a strike settlement short of an injunction.

But this plan collapsed when management representatives decided against attending. Finnegan said the employer group saw "no useful purpose" in the meeting.

It was indicated the New York employers felt it inevitable the union's demand for a coastwide bargaining unit, something the employers have been steadily resisting, would come up at any such meeting and so decided to stay away.

The ILA is under a federal court restraining order, issued in New York Wednesday, against insisting on a broader bargaining unit than the New York Harbor area. Claims Doublecross
The ILA claims it was "double-crossed" by the employers group on the bargaining scope issue. The union says agreement was near on a compromise for a unit from Maine to Virginia when management switched strategy and went into court in behalf of the Wednesday restraining order.

As to this, counsel Alfred Giardino said the shippers' association "never gave any assurance, commitment or intimation" of any compromise.

However, he said some individual members, without sanction of their organization itself, may have talked with the ILA about a possible compromise.

Louis Waldman, the ILA's special counsel, said on this point that he felt the employers and union probably would have reached a compromise agreement on the bargaining scope issue "if there had been no wirecrossing between one branch of the NYSA and another."

For the moment Eden's Conservatives seem to have patched up the differences among themselves. But his government still faces continuing demands by Hugh Gaitskell's opposition Laborites for an impartial investigation of charges that Britain, France and Israel acted in collusion in attacking Egypt.

Red Soldier Shot, Slain By Austrians

Another Russian Caught In Pursuit Of Hungarians

AUSTRO-HUNGARIAN FRONTIER, Nov. 23 (AP)—Austrian police killed a Soviet soldier and captured another tonight. It was the first clash along the frontier since thousands of Hungarian refugees began escaping from the ruins of their collapsed revolution.

An Austrian police announcement said the fatal shooting took place 400 yards inside Austrian territory while the Russians were chasing refugees. The scene was Rech Nitz, in Austria's easternmost province of Burgenland, when a two-man Austrian customs patrol halted the Russians.

Police headquarters said the dead Russian was shot in the stomach when he tried to break away while being escorted to an Austrian customs house.

Covered Two Russians

The official account of the shooting said Austrian customs men covered the two Russians with their guns after they invaded Austrian territory.

The Russians, surprised at facing armed men, halted, then leveled their own guns at the Austrians. The Austrians and Russians thus faced each other at a distance of about 50 yards for about 10 minutes until a regular Austrian police patrol rushed up, advanced on the two Russians and disarmed them.

The Russians made no protest, the official report said, but when they were being marched to the customs house one made a dash for the Hungarian border. A policeman fired at him and he fell wounded. He died later in a hospital at Oberwart.

The second Russian is held for questioning at an undisclosed police post.

The spokesman for Eisenstadt police headquarters said the Austrians regretted the incident, "but the integrity of our country must be respected by all" and this respect would be enforced by arms if necessary.

Case Of Necessity

"This definitely was a case of necessity," he said.

The incident occurred as the stream of refugees reached a new high—some 5,000 in 12 hours. Altogether more than 60,000 have registered for asylum in Austria.

Frontier police today saw the Russians chop down Freedom Bridge, the small wooden structure over a border canal by which thousands have escaped. The Russians then made a bonfire of the pieces. The Russians had blown up the center of the little bridge two days ago, but refugees made makeshift repairs and continued to use it.

After destruction of the bridge some Russian patrols began firing on parties of refugees in an intensified effort to stop the flow across the flat countryside and marshlands.

Three half-frozen refugees showed up at the Red Cross center nearest the frontier with bullet wounds.

He didn't make any fuss over his 107th birthday, said a friend, Cal Sloan.

Wilson Receives Control Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson has before him today a compromise plan to settle the long-standing Army-Air Force controversy over the control of guided missiles.

Wilson so far has given no indication of his view on the plan or whether he will approve it in the form drawn up by his subordinates.

Under the plan, the Army would be given operational control of all current anti-aircraft missiles and would have primary responsibility for using several missiles now in advanced stages of development.

The Air Force would have operational control over medium and long-range missiles launched from the ground.

The current programs for research and development of missiles would be unchanged. The Redstone missile center at Huntsville, Ala. has been told to continue its top priority work on the 1,500-mile medium-range Jupiter, being developed for use by both the Army and the Navy.

Another previously announced exercise, called Red Arrow, is going ahead as scheduled starting in a few days and continuing into December at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. The 1st Infantry Division from Ft. Riley, Kan., and smaller supporting units are taking part in this training exercise.

Nagy, Followers Deported By Russia To Red Rumania

Asylum Request Is Ignored By Red Hungary

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Nov. 23 (AP)—The Russian-controlled government of Hungary today deported ex-Premier Imre Nagy and a group of followers to neighboring Red Rumania.

Premier Janos Kadar's government, ignored a reported agreement with Yugoslavia to let Nagy and 51 companions return safely to their Budapest homes.

They had spent 19 days in refuge at the Yugoslav Embassy. Yugoslavia said it had obtained a written guarantee from the Kadar government that they would not be molested when they left the embassy for their homes.

Nagy and the others left their asylum yesterday but did not show up at their homes. After hours of speculation today, a Kadar spokesman announced they had gone to Rumania after expressing a wish to live in a "people's democratic country."

All Persons Shipped

It was assumed all persons who took refuge in the embassy have been shipped to Rumania, which may well be only the first step to banishment to the Soviet Union. There was some speculation that they were held in the Soviet Embassy here from the time they left the Yugoslav asylum until they were sent to Rumania.

It was apparent that if members of the Nagy party had been given any choice about their place of exile they would have chosen Yugoslavia, whose independent Communist policies conform more closely to their own views.

In Belgrade, the official Yugoslav Communist party paper Borna said Soviet officials abducted Nagy and his party after they left the Yugoslav Embassy in Budapest. The Yugoslav version said: The Hungarians left by bus after thanking the Yugoslavs for asylum. The bus was overtaken by two carloads of Soviet security officials and escorted to Soviet headquarters on Gorky Blvd. Two Yugoslav Embassy officials in the bus protested and were put out on the street before the Soviet headquarters. Two armored cars replaced the security automobiles and the bus with the Nagy party was driven off to an unknown destination.

The government announcement that they went to satellite Rumania means they may be kept closely under the eye of the Soviet security forces.

The announcement met with skepticism outside Hungary. Whisking Nagy out of the country could bolster considerably the position of the Kadar regime. A major demand of Hungarians rebelling against the Kadar government has been the reinstatement of Nagy. He is the man who promised free elections, a broader government including representation of non-Communist parties, and withdrawal from the Warsaw Pact under which Soviet troops claim the right to be in Hungary.

N Explanation

(There was no explanation of why Nagy should prefer Rumania to Yugoslavia, where his views are regarded more sympathetically.)

The spokesman's statement came 25 hours after the Nagy group left the embassy. Yugoslavia said it had obtained a written guarantee from the Kadar government that Nagy and the others would not be molested.

Song Writer Aids Birth

SPRINGVILLE, N. Y., Nov. 23 (AP)—Songwriter Jack Yellen, snowbound on his farm near this western New York village, was awakened by a pounding on his door at the height of a blizzard early today.

A frantic motorist told the composer of "Happy Days Are Here Again" that a woman in his car was about to give birth.

The prospective mother, Mrs. Bernard Schmitz of North Collins, was brought in.

With every street plugged by snow, police were unable to help.

Mrs. Yellen and a neighbor attended Mrs. Schmitz while Yellen in desperation telephoned his brother, Dr. Hiram S. Yellen, in Buffalo.

The songwriter shouted directions into an adjoining bedroom as his brother passed the word. Mother and daughter are doing fine.

Yellen happily whistled another of his hits—"Ain't She Sweet?"

Britain Will Keep Soldiers In Egypt

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 23 (AP)—Britain refused today to obey a rising clamor from the United States, Soviet Union, Latin America, Asia and Africa for British, French and Israeli forces to withdraw now from Egypt.

Instead, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told the U. N. Assembly in firm tones that Britain will maintain her forces at Port Said in the Suez Canal zone until London feels the U. N. peace patrol can carry out effectively the tasks assigned to it.

Lloyd teamed with British commanders in Egypt in saying one battalion of British troops was being ordered out almost immediately as a token act of faith in the U. N. The British-French commander in Egypt, Gen. Sir Charles Keightley, said the withdrawal there will be "related to the United Nations buildup—as fast as the U. N. troops arrive the British and French will get out."

Lloyd spoke here as the Assembly once more suspended its discussion of general world problems to concentrate on the Middle East. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold urged that the force now being deployed in Egypt and a number of delegations are dissatisfied at the slow pace of British, French and Israeli withdrawal.

Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov angrily charged that Lloyd was putting up conditions and said the U. N. must take action to put an end to what he called the British "stalling."

He threw his support behind a resolution introduced by 21 Asian-African nations calling on Britain, France and Israel to withdraw immediately.

The Assembly adjourned at 6:09 p.m. without a vote on the resolution. The debate will go on tomorrow at 10:30 a.m.

The United States has given, and is still giving its full backing to demands for Britain, France and Israel to leave Egypt immediately. But authoritative sources said tonight the United States might abstain in the vote on the Asian-African resolution. These sources said the United States sees not much gain in putting through another resolution demanding withdrawal.

After the British and French have withdrawn from the Suez Canal area, Shepilov said, the U. N. forces will have no functions there and should join the U. N. detachments which by that time should be stationed along the armistice lines between Israel and Egypt.

Egypt's foreign minister, Mahmoud Fawzi, said his country's sovereignty still is being flagrantly infringed while Britain, France and Israel ignore the Assembly recommendations.

He said the continued presence of the troops is holding up important matters, like clearing the Suez Canal.

Plane Hits French Home On Takeoff

Italian Craft Was Headed For N.Y. From Paris Airport

PARIS, Nov. 24 (AP)—A four-engined transatlantic Italian airliner crashed into a suburban French home near Orly Airfield early today, killing 33 of 34 persons aboard and one young boy in the house.

Two other persons in the house were badly injured.

The plane crashed just after takeoff and burst into flames as it struck.

Grazes Building

The big DC6B, headed for New York with a full fuel load, first grazed a two-story building and set it afire, then plunged into a second house. Another small building, nearby also was destroyed by spewing flames.

Nightshirt-clad residents of the suburban village saved three inhabitants of the second house—two adults and one teen-aged boy. The boy died a short time later. One passenger—badly burned but alive—was pulled from the wreck.

Italian airline officials said the plane carried 24 passengers and a crew of 10. The stewardess was French. Twenty-two passengers boarded the plane in Rome and two in Paris.

The LAI offices in Rome said there were 13 Americans among the passengers, 9 Italians and 1 Turk when the plane left Rome. All the Americans were booked through to New York.

Names of passengers were withheld by the airline until relatives can be notified.

The next stop after Orly Airfield was to have been Shannon, Ireland, then the long hop across the Atlantic.

Pillar Of Flames

The plane crashed at the village of Paray Vieille Poste seconds after it left the runway in the first faint snowfall of winter.

The ignited gasoline sent a pillar of flame into the air that could be seen in Paris.

Rescue workers hurried to the scene which was quickly lit by big floodlights rushed from Orly Field. The wreckage was scarcely recognizable as an airplane.

Twenty-five bodies were removed from the wreckage and taken to the village city hall where residents kept a vigil by candlelight because the crash knocked out the electric current.

Villagers reported the one passenger still living had been sent to the American hospital in Paris. The hospital said it had received no casualties from the wreck.

The plane was piloted by Capt. Attilio Vazzoler, a veteran of many landings at Orly and a veteran transatlantic pilot.

104 Die As Train Plunges Into River

MADRAS, India, Nov. 23 (AP)—Seven coaches of the night express from Madras to Tuticorin plunged from a bridge into a swollen river early today, killing 104 persons.

Railway headquarters here said more than 68 other persons were injured in the disaster.

The express left here last night for the 400-mile journey to Tuticorin, nearly on the tip of southern India. About half way, at Ariyalur, the train ran into heavy rains, officials said.

all the friends who greet us. . . . But this is a time also for something else. "This is the time to remember those we left behind."

Varga said he had spent eight years in Soviet slave camps for his political activities since the war.

The Milwaukee arrival was the third in the United States for refugees who crossed the Hungarian border into free territory as the Russians crushed the Hungarian revolt. A few hours earlier the second in the series of "freedom flights" landed at Camp Kilmer, N.J., where the first plane landed Wednesday. A third was scheduled later today.

At Camp Kilmer, a 40-year-old Budapest postal inspector who declined to permit use of his name said he was in the crowd in Budapest Oct. 24 when a peaceful student demonstration was turned into a revolution. He said the trigger was a fusillade of cannon fire from secret police and Communist tanks that mowed down some 400 persons.

73 Hungary Refugees Welcomed In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 23 (AP)—A new world opened wide its arms today for 73 more fugitives from the Soviet terror in Hungary in a Milwaukee welcome as warm and tearful as the embrace of old friends meeting at the funeral of a loved one.

For many of those in the Flying Tiger DC4 that arrived 25½ flying hours out of Vienna—and for many of the 500 waiting in the gusty wind at Gen. Billy Mitchell Airfield—the occasion was compounded of joy and grief.

"I feel like the king in the fairy tale, with one eye weeping and the other eye laughing," said Milwaukee Pastor Kalman Csia in greeting the new arrivals. "I laugh because I see you here, and I weep because I am thinking of others, who perhaps are going to Siberia or are suffering under the Bolsheviks."

And from one of their own, 31-year-old Budapest radio announcer Zoltan Varga, came the stern admonition: "We are thankful to be in this new land and we are grateful for

Heavy Snowfall Buries East End Of Great Lakes

[By The Associated Press]

A snowfall so heavy it buried cars and caved in some roofs staggered a broad area at the eastern end of the Great Lakes Friday.

As the storm eased, snowplows and rescue crews labored to cut through drifts that ranged up to seven feet in depth.

Troops were ordered to aid hard-hit Erie, Pa.

National Guard tanks were pressed into road-clearing service in Ashtabula, Ohio.

Hundreds of motorists were stranded. Thousands of workers stayed home. Trains were delayed.

A two-day snowfall ended in Erie at noon. The city of 130,000 sought to throw off the paralyzing burden of two feet of snow.

Mayor Arthur Gardner declared a state of emergency. Gov. George M. Leader ordered the National Guard's 112th Infantry Regiment at Erie to give all possible assistance.

Highway crews began opening some roads in the Erie Area. Business and industry there were at a virtual standstill. Some cars in that section were buried, roofs of a few homes collapsed.

Erie airport reported 33 inches of snow on the ground.

The snow belt stretched across the northeastern corner of Ohio, the northwestern corner of Pennsylvania and eastward into upstate New York.

New York State counted four storm deaths, three in accidents and one attributed to a heart attack.

Springville, a village of 4,000 population 30 miles south of Buffalo, was snowbound. Residents reported by telephone that the snow ranged from 40 to 48 inches in depth, and more than 200 automobiles were immobilized.

Seven heavy snowplows, trying to open a path near Springville, rolled over into ditches while trying to maneuver around stalled cars.

A Greyhound bus was halted near Gowanda, 25 miles southwest of Buffalo, and the passengers sought shelter in the town. Sheriff Morgan Sigel reported about 600 cars were stopped by the snow.

Policemen, firemen and citizen volunteers slogged along highways in New York's storm zone, lending help.

The snow seemed to be letting up in western New York Friday afternoon, but it still was falling at that time in the Watertown area.

The heaviest falls were on or near the southern shores of Lakes Erie and Ontario. But the snow spread eastward Friday. Syracuse, in the central part of New York, had two inches with more in sight.

Highways 5 and 20 main routes between Buffalo, N.Y., and Cleveland, Ohio, were closed near the Pennsylvania border.

Some roads were shut in Ashtabula County and the eastern section of Lake County in Ohio.

Ashtabula had 20 to 24 inches of snow, but the fall ended there Friday except for flurries.

Cold air brought freezing weather to northern Florida and the eastern section of the Gulf Coast early Friday. The temperature dropped to 24 at Cross City, Fla., to 48 at Miami, and to 18 at Evergreen, Ala.

Low readings below the zero mark were reported in eastern North Dakota and parts of Minnesota and Wisconsin. International Falls, Minn., had -16.

Trio Of Queen Juliana's Personal Staff Resigns

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Nov. 23 (AP)—Three members of Queen Juliana's personal staff have resigned, an official announcement said tonight. All three have been criticized for their part in the recent crisis in the Dutch Royal family.

Walraven Baron Van Heeckeren Van Molencate, the Queen's private secretary.

Dr. I. G. Van Maasdijk, chamberlain-in-extraordinary to the Queen.

Miss Martine de Jongh, temporary private secretary to the Queen.

Their resignations become effective Jan. 1, the announcement said.

The 42-year-old baron and his wife, Rita, were widely criticized as ardent followers of faith healer Greet Hofmans. Miss de Jongh was also said to be a follower of the 61-year-old faith healer, key figure in a royal crisis which at one time caused rumors that Queen Juliana might abdicate.

The German weekly magazine Der Spiegel reported last summer that the Queen and the faith healer had been friendly eight years. The magazine said the Queen consulted the faith healer about the virtual blindness of her 9-year-old daughter, Princess Marijke. It then alleged the faith healer was using her position to win influence over the Queen.

Dutch government officials also privately expressed concern that the faith healer was gaining influence over the Queen. Miss Hofmans, through an associate, denied she influenced the Queen.

Season's First Snowfall Keeps Road Crews Busy

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 23 (AP)—The season's first snowfall which blanketed West Virginia last night, kept Road Commission cinder crews busy today.

A commission spokesman reported that "everything has been cindered" in the state. All highways were passable but motorists traveling W. Va. 15 and 20 in Webster County were advised to use chains.

The northern section was hit harder than Southern West Virginia, the commission said, with Upshur and Webster counties reporting from two to three inches of snow.

Icy highways last night in the Clarksburg area caused scores of accidents before the crews got the roads cindered. Clarksburg reported snow flurries and a temperature of 20 degrees above zero.

Elkins reported an inch of snow with a temperature of 14 above.

Arsenic Found In Well Water

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Nov. 23 (AP)—Traces of arsenic were discovered today in the Kidwell family's well water.

The 44-year-old father and two of the nine Kidwell children have died from arsenic poisoning. The 32-year-old mother and the seven remaining youngsters are hospitalized. The oldest child, Molly Louise, 13, is in precarious condition and may not live.

The arsenic was found in samples examined by Dr. Henry Freimuth, state toxicologist.

Dr. Freimuth said he was told the Kidwell house at nearby Kearneysville, W. Va., was at the edge of an apple orchard. Arsenic is used in tree sprays.

Some of the poison could have been introduced accidentally into the water supply through dusting of the nearby trees, he said.

Mrs. Helen Elizabeth Kidwell was admitted to the hospital last night after she was questioned by police about the three deaths. She complained then of swelling in her hands, ankles and wrists.

The father, William S. Kidwell Sr., died yesterday. Thomas John Kidwell, 1, and his 2-year-old brother, Charles Richard, died 24 hours after they were admitted to the hospital nine days ago.

Science Fails To Aid Beaver Child Mystery

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Nov. 23 (AP)—Science proved no help today in the effort to determine what happened to 2-year-old William Henry Beaver.

Mrs. Virginia Beaver, 64-year-old grandmother, and James Beaver, 24, father of the child missing since the day before Thanksgiving, "failed to react" to lie detector tests, authorities said.

Prosecutor Russell L. Daugherty obtained murder warrants against the two, nevertheless, and the search for the missing baby went doggedly on.

Some 50 volunteers who made a foot-by-foot hunt in the wooded area near the baby's crude log cabin home in the Charley's Creek section, 20 miles east of Huntington, over the holiday, returned to their jobs today, but sheriff's deputies continued to slog over snow-covered ground in a biting wind.

The polygraph lie detector tests were conducted in Charleston by experts in the Criminal Identification Bureau of the State Police.

Both subjects are illiterate. Officers explained that although this was taken into consideration, both father and grandmother of the baby appeared to be telling the truth in their denials of causing any harm to the child.

Mrs. Elizabeth Beaver, 18, mother of Billy and seven months pregnant with another child, is not figuring in the investigation.

She and her husband were away from home, collecting firewood, when the child, left with his grandmother, disappeared about 10:30 a. m.

The elder Mrs. Beaver was quoted Wednesday night that she clubbed the baby to death because he "got on my nerves," a statement she retracted.

"I don't know nothing about where he's at," she told a newsman from her cell in the County jail here today, "cept that he's gone and my heart is achin' for him."

The father, also protesting his innocence, said:

"I just don't know where Billy is... I wish I did... Maybe he's under the house... They can tear the whole house down if they want to... just so's they find Billy."

Billy was overweight. He weighed 60 pounds and was described as "strong." Once before he wandered away, to be found later a half-mile away.

If he wandered off this time there was little chance for him in the subfreezing cold. He was wearing big overalls, striped socks and sweater... no coat or jacket... when the parents said they last saw him.

Man Fails To Save Baby From Flames

BALTIMORE, Nov. 23 (AP)—Four-month-old Tandra Christian died in her crib today after a delivery man, who rescued five other Negro children from the burning house, was unable to find her in the smoke.

William Smalls went to the second floor of the burning building and led five other children of Mrs. Audrey Christian to safety.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Miller, who lived next door, helped shepherd their two children to safety and helped Smalls with the other youngsters.

Smalls said he could hear the baby gasping in the thick smoke but couldn't find her and finally was forced to retreat.

Plain Clothes Aid Officer Nab Driver

HAGERSTOWN, Nov. 23 (AP)—Robert Lee Rosenberry, 19, of nearby Keedysville was driving along U.S. 40 at a leisurely pace, munching on an ice cream cone as traffic backed up behind him.

Finally another driver motioned him over.

Said Rosenberry:

"What's the matter bud, you in a big hurry?"

Said State Police Capt. Charles Magaha:

"No, I'm not in a big hurry." Magaha, who was in plain clothes, testified that he then asked Rosenberry for his credentials.

Rosenberry was jailed for 30 days today in default of a $100 fine imposed by Magistrate William Kreykenbohm on a charge of driving on a revoked license.

Tromberi Gets 18-Year Term

BALTIMORE, Nov. 23 (AP)—Joseph T. Tromberi, 15, convicted of killing his girl friend's father, was sentenced today to 18 years in prison, the maximum for a second degree murder conviction.

Still to be tried on charges of being accessories, are the girl friend, Diane Burgess, 15; her mother, Mrs. Thelma Burgess, and Walter Brauer, 17, who allegedly supplied the rifle with which Leonard Burgess was slain.

Young Tromberi was convicted of ambushing Burgess, 36, in front of his home last Sept. 29.

A statement admitted into evidence said Tromberi shot Burgess because of the father's treatment of the girl. Diane testified she urged the boy to kill her father and she was "glad he is dead."

Judge James K. Cullen ordered the boy taken to the penitentiary and declined to impose an indeterminate sentence.

Tromberi stood with head bowed and hands clasped in front of him as sentence was imposed in Youth Court.

A jury convicted Tromberi last Friday.

Of Such is the Kingdom of God

Some people argue that the words of Christ imply that God's Kingdom belongs to children and not to adults. Indeed, there are some families whose worship habits suggest as much. The youngsters are bundled off to Sunday School; and the grown-ups stay home.

But Biblical scholars have long agreed that Christ's words point to the attitude, not the age, which is the mark of God's Kingdom.

The implicit faith, the humble acceptance, the eager yearning with which children approach Christ's teaching — these are the qualities which belong to God's Kingdom.

Perhaps we are foolishly infatuated with the notion that our children should follow in our footsteps. If we start them in the right direction, the direction of the Church, we may gain much more by following in theirs.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Coal Miner Held Guilty In Murder Case

KINGWOOD, W. Va. (AP)—Benton W. Alexander, found guilty of second degree murder in Circuit Court here Wednesday, took the verdict without showing emotion.

The 42-year-old Preston County coal miner was charged with shooting to death his friend and landlord, Steven A. Malish. He still faces trial on an indictment that he also shot his wife, Nora Alma, when he found her and Malish in a compromising position.

"He took the verdict like everything else in the trial," said Prosecutor James T. Dailey Jr. "He didn't bat an eye."

Dailey said Judge Melvin C. Snyder probably would sentence Alexander on Monday, but added that the defense has moved that the verdict be set aside. Second degree murder carries a penalty of 5-18 years in prison.

The prosecutor also said that Alexander most likely would be tried during the next term of court, in March, on the indictment that he shot his wife. Dailey said that an entire 37-man jury panel was exhausted in getting a jury for the trial which began Monday.

Earlier in the day, Alexander gave details of the slaying in testimony on his behalf.

Mt. Savage Junior Class Rehearsing Stage Play

Present Teen Age Theme December 4

MT. SAVAGE—Dale Thomas and Doris Harden will head the cast of the three act comedy, "The Perfect Idiot" by Eunice and Grant Atkinson, which will be presented by the Junior Class in the Mt. Savage school auditorium December 4, at 8 p. m.

The setting for the plot which revolves around a typically teeny Latherby, the soap manufacturer, is the Tennyson living room in springtime. The main character is Dan Tennyson, portrayed by Dale Thomas. Dan, though far more mature in thinking than his high school classmates, is very much disliked by them. Despite their dislike for him the students ask Dan to tutor the school's star athlete, Puff, played by George Beal. Puff at times is a little reluctant in his studies and is in danger of being taken off the team. Principal Barnard's daughter, Linda, played by Doris Harden, does not like the set up, which is one of Dan's own choosing. She must go steady with Dan during the period of his hypnotic suggestion courses on Puff.

Dan's enthusiasm for controlling the events and people around him lead to a series of mishaps that build up to a dramatic climax.

Other featured roles include: Dan's worried mother and father Sandra Duckworth and Bill Turley; the popular younger brother, Frank Hansrote; Linda's father, who is the school principal, Dale Geary; Rhodora, the maid, Janet Waltman; Wal-

U. Of Maryland Creates Office Of Relations

Robert J. McCartney, director of publicity and news at the University of Massachusetts, will assume duties December 3 as head of the new Office of University Relations at the University of Maryland.

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, university president, who announced the appointment, said the move creates a single official source for news and publications related to the university's general program.

Mr. McCartney, who is 39, is a native of Salem, Mass. He received his B. A. degree from the University of Massachusetts to 1941 and for the next four years was in the Army Intelligence Services. On his release from the service he returned to the University of Massachusetts to

Former Resident Named To State Board In Kansas

Dr. F. DeSales Smith, former resident now living in Wichita, Kan., a member of the Sedgwick County Chiropractors Association, has been appointed to the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners by Gov. Fred Hall.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis D. Smith, 12 Valley Street, he will complete the unexpired term of the late Dr. Victor Saffry, Manhattan, Kan. The term will expire on May 10, 1959.

He attended St. Patrick's School and Allegany High School here prior to entering the U. S. Navy in World War II. Dr. Smith was graduated from Logan College, St. Louis, Mo. and at present is in charge of the Huey-Curtis Health Clinic in Wichita.

Stamp Club Will Tour Post Office

The Fort Cumberland Philatelic Society will inspect the Cumberland Post Office Tuesday night.

The tour will be conducted by Thomas B. Cumiskey Jr., assistant postmaster, following the club's regular meeting in City Hall at 7:30 p. m.

Plans for the inspection tour were made by Paul Morin and James Toole, directors of the club sponsored by the City Recreation Department.

The Post Office Department, the club reports, takes a special interest in stamp collectors, who pay millions of dollars each year for stamps which are never used for postage.

Tuesday's meeting will also stress a membership drive, and all those interested in collecting stamps are urged to attend meetings of the club.

Brother Nicholas, of LaSalle High School, is president of the club which meets in City Hall on second and fourth Tuesdays.

Local Society To Hear Talk By Engineer

The Cumberland Section of the Instrument Society of America will hear a talk on "Radioactivity Gauging Applied to Process Measurement and Control" at a meeting Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Philip Ohmart, president, and research director of the Ohmart Corporation, Cincinnati, Ohio, will address the local group and give an illustrated lecture on the relatively new science of radioactivity gauging.

Mr. Ohmart attended Wittenberg College and Ohio State University, and is a registered professional engineer. He has been associated with instrumentation, electronics and radio since the early 1930's. He was employed by Mound Laboratory following his service in World War II.

In 1950 he left the Mound Laboratory, which is operated by Monsanto Chemical, to form his present corporation. The Ohmart Corporation manufactures radioactivity detecting instruments, density, level and similar gauges. Reservations for the dinner can be made by contacting Clyde Babst, 225 Cecelia Street.

Three Hurt In Headon Collision

Three persons were hospitalized as the result of highway accidents over the holiday period, a check of area State Police reveals.

They were injured in a headon collision on U. S. Route 50 on top of Allegheny Front Mountain at about 7:30 a. m. Thursday. Another person was hurt in the accident but did not require hospitalization.

Cpl. Evan Moody of the Keyser detachment of West Virginia State Police, who investigated, said the mishap was attributed to a blinding snowstorm. Visibility, Cpl. Moody said, was poor at the time due to high winds and blowing snow in near-zero temperatures. No charges will be preferred.

Two of the victims, Air Force Lt. Col. and Mrs. Walter E. Thorne, were admitted to Pottomac Valley Hospital in Keyser, while another, Russell Edward Baughman, East Freedom, Pa., is in Memorial Hospital here.

Lt. Col. Thorne's wife, Mrs. Kathryn C. Thorne, was driving their automobile, Cpl. Moody said. She suffered a fractured and lacerated nose, while her husband is scheduled to have X-rays taken of a head injury. He also sustained an injury to his right leg.

Baughman, the driver of the other vehicle, who is stationed with the Army at the Indiantown Gap (Pa.) Military Reservation, was admitted to Memorial Hospital here with a fracture of the chest bone. Attaches reported him in "fair" condition yesterday. A passenger in his car, Rosemary Conn, was released from Memorial after treatment of lacerations of the forehead and injuries to her right leg, left arm and chest.

Kiwanians Attend Division Conference

Three members of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club attended the Lieutenant Governor's Organization Conference of the Ninth Division Tuesday at the Francis Scott Key Hotel in Frederick.

Local representatives were William H. Johnson, president-elect; William J. Edwards, who has been club secretary for 17 years, and Albert D. Darby Jr., vice president-elect.

Eight of the nine clubs in the division sent representatives. They were Cumberland, Frederick, Front Royal, Va.; Hagerstown, Mt. Airy, Taneytown, Westminster and Winchester, Va. Only Thurmont was unrepresented. Dr. H. P. Sturdivant of Westminster, lieutenant governor-elect of the division, directed the conference.

Equity Suits Filed

Four equity suits were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Catherine C. Munie vs. James D. Munie, Rosalie Webster vs. Dale Webster, Floyd Miller Parker vs. Unity Jane Parker and Grace E. Chedester vs. Avery T. Chedester.

Gas Rate Appeal

the company's rate base representing interest on the purchase of the Maryland portion of the Snee and Eberly field at Terra Alta.

Retention of the forfeiture of discount plan. In 1955, the company collected $18,790 from customers who forfeited discounts by failing to pay bills within the prescribed time.

Deduction of $20,810 marked up on the rate base for the average balance for the past five years on customers' advances for construction.

Urges PSC Election

Two suggestions were made by the officials for possible legislation. Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan called for the election of members of the Public Service Commission.

Commissioner James Orr asked that utilities which plan expansion which might affect rates secure authorization for the improvements from the General Assembly.

The officials had some sharp comments on the rate increase. Commissioner Keegan said the PSC "can't do the right thing for customers" and does not have the interest of the people at heart.

It is up to the city and county to continue the fight, he said. The PSC, Commissioner Long said, "is not fair to the people."

Finan said he felt the area would have come out better if the PSC had been "inclined to help us," and Getty said one hurdle was that the new rates are less than in areas from which PSC members come.

Getty said the people will not stand for the new rates and that if enough take out gas furnaces the company will drop rates since it is in the business of selling gas.

Pending a study, Getty reported the best points to be used in an appeal are the plan for amortizing rate costs, the Atlantic-

Seaboard contract and unaccounted gas.

Russian 'Diplomacy' By Threat, Growl

Are the growls the Russian bear is emitting signs of weakness or of strength? In the past fortnight the Kremlin's brandishing of arms has had the appearance of a state policy of "diplomacy by threat."

The new war of nerves broke out on November 4 when Russia denounced a British-French blockade of Suez as an "act of aggression." Two days later came the announcement that Russia had sent strong notes to Great Britain, France, and Israel on the Suez crisis. As carried by Radio Moscow, these notes said Russia was prepared to "crush the aggressors and restore peace."

A simultaneous note to the U. S. did mention a "third world war," but in general was confined to the suggestion that the U. S. and U.S.S.R. join forces in the United Nations to stop the Middle East "aggression." And a note to the U.N. spoke of a Soviet "contribution" of "air and naval forces," avoiding reference to unilateral Soviet action.

The texts of the notes actually sent to Britain, France and Israel later were said to be much milder than those broadcast. Even so, the threats seem to have worked on this occasion, for Britain and France ordered an end to the fighting.

Then came a series of rumors and announcements adding up to threats to send a Russian "volunteer" force to Suez. President Eisenhower on November 14 said that the United States would oppose through the U.N. any Soviet military intervention in the Middle East. But the volunteer threats did not cease until November 16, after Egypt had stated that Russian aid was not needed at that time.

Then on Nov. 17 the Russians broached their new disarmament proposal, this too accompanied by a threat. The Soviet Union has no "absurd designs on Western Europe," a note from Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin informed President Eisenhower. But if Russia had such designs, they could be accomplished "even without the use of up-to-date nuclear and rocket weapons."

On November 19 the direction of the attack shifted. President Tito of Yugoslavia being condemned for his "tendencies to interfere in the affairs of other Communist parties." Next?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Hawaii

The Republicans were anxious to have Hawaii admitted to statehood because they believed that it would give them two additional Republican Senators. The Democrats favored admitting Alaska to statehood as that would give them two additional Democratic Senators. As this produced a stand-off, nothing happened.

But the fact is that had Hawaii been granted statehood, the two Senators might have been neither Republicans nor Democrats but Communists. For that lovely Polynesian area has become a pest-hole of Communist infiltration and is controlled by Harry Bridges as though he were Governor-General of the satrapy. It is for this reason that the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee has already made a preliminary study of the Hawaiian Islands and is about to hold hearings there. It is to be remembered that Pearl Harbor is situated in the Hawaiian Islands and that they are the first line of defense of continental United States.

The principal sources of Communist strength in Hawaii are the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the United Public Workers. These two unions dominate the economic and public life of the area, including radio stations and other means of communications. Curiously, the ILWU does not limit itself to longshoremen, but includes agricultural workers in the pineapple and sugar plantations which are the principal industries of the area. The population is mixed, mainly Orientals, with few emotional ties to the United States.

The leader of the ILWU in Hawaii is Jack Hall who was convicted under the Smith Act in 1953. William B. Stephenson, chairman of the Commission on Subversive Activities of the Territory of Hawaii, has stated:

"In speaking of the control which Communist leaders exert in the ILWU, the Commission has pointed out that if this control were exercised contrary to the best interests of the United States it could not only bring about economic chaos in Hawaii but could adversely affect the war potential and the national security of the United States."

The United States Navy has apparently been forced by circumstances to take cognizance of the enormous power of the ILWU, since it has ceased to employ workers of this union at the Pearl Harbor Navy Yard and has organized its own stevedoring service with civil service status.

The United Public Workers solicits membership among government employees and the employees of educational institutions and hospitals and related forms of employment. The Hawaiian Commission on Subversive Activities has found that:

"... the United Public Workers was controlled by the Communist Party, that the Communist Party has exploited the UPW and its membership primarily for Communist purposes, and that in conflicts of interest between the Communist Party and the rank and file membership of the union, the Communist interest has prevailed."

In a word, the United States Government staff in Hawaii is under the control of a union that has been declared Communist-dominated and under leaders, some of whom have been convicted of seeking to overthrow the Government of the United States.

When the record is studied, it is evident that it is not a pretty picture at all and that while the United States Government was either asleep or buried under a heap of words, the Communists were making the Hawaiian Islands their own bailiwick and that if Hawaii were admitted to statehood, we might even get as United States Senators, appointees of the Kremlin or of Red China.

It is expected that the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee will turn up a sensational situation in Hawaii which will have a profound effect upon Hawaii's chance of being admitted to statehood.

'Sit And Eat Heartily'

U. S. Foreign Policy Emphasis Switches To U. N.

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The human drama of the last event-crammed weeks has been greatly intensified by the role played by President Eisenhower. The President, who used to be content in most cases to "let Foster handle it," has now become his own Secretary of State. Even before the unfortunate illness of Secretary Dulles, the President was already moving gradually in this direction. The Secretary's forced withdrawal from the scene then abruptly placed the entire responsibility in the President's hands. He has accepted it cheerfully and with alacrity.

In this new role, Eisenhower has resolved differences of opinion by personally dictating important cables at National Security Council meetings. He has supplemented his normal diplomatic channels by personal contacts with foreign representatives, as when he received the French Ambassador, Herve Alphand, at the White House, and when he talked at length by telephone with British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden at the time of the Suez cease-fire.

He has read the riot act, too, when it seemed to him wise to set a new tone, as when he cured the first paroxysm of hysteria caused in Washington by the sudden Anglo-Franco-Israeli move against Egypt, by sharply reminding his subordinates that we still had to remember who were our real friends and enemies. In sum, Dwight D. Eisenhower has been in day to day operating control of American diplomacy throughout this crisis period; and he seems likely to keep this close control even after Secretary Dulles' return to duty.

This in itself is a critically important development. In a rather curious way, moreover, it has already changed the whole painstaking, committee-ridden method of U. S. policy-making. The truth is that an almost deified aura now surrounds the re-elected President. "Ours not to reason why," is very much the attitude nowadays, even among the most independent-minded policy-makers.

Thus the future meaning of the President's decisions does not seem to have been studied very closely. In effect, a new American course in the world has been three quarters charted, without any really painstaking inquiries as to where the new course may lead.

To be sure, the new course is mainly a matter of emphasis, thus far. The Western Alliance has been de-emphasized, and a strong new emphasis has been placed on the United Nations, and especially on the United Nations General Assembly. Meanwhile the President himself has taken great pains to assure the British and French governments that he wishes to heal the recent breach in the Western Alliance, and to strengthen the Alliance by all means possible at the very earliest opportunity.

None the less, the mere change in emphasis already made is a gigantic new departure. For the last 11 years, the United States has poured out untold billions of dollars, has shed much brave blood in Korea, has made every kind of painful effort all over the world, for the sole purpose of building up and safeguarding and invigorating the Western Alliance. In the past, when the United States had to choose between the U. N. and the Western Alliance, the decision was always in favor of the Alliance.

"Supporting The U. N."

Now, however, the choices are being made just the other way. This was exemplified by the dusty answer given the British and French when they asked for rather modest American help with their grave oil problem. It was again exemplified, and even more dramatically, when the President also refused to intervene in any way in U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's negotiations with Egyptian President Nasser. By this latter decision "to support the United Nations" (the official phrase), another significant step was taken in the strange process of transforming Egypt's smashing military defeat into a smashing political victory.

This Egyptian political victory is being achieved, it must be remembered, at the expense of our two chief Western Allies, Britain and France, as well as the expense of Israel, whose survival this country is morally bound to guarantee.

We may also wish, and the President certainly wishes, to conserve the Western Alliance, but the question is not whether we wish to conserve the Alliance. The question is, rather, whether we shall be able to conserve the Alliance, after the other principal Western Allies have begun to suffer the predictable consequences of their Middle Eastern defeat.

Eisenhower encouraging the satellite nations and virtually, if not actually, promising them aid.

Speaking in Buffalo Aug. 27, 1952, in a speech obviously aimed at winning Buffalo's huge Polish-American vote, Dulles promised that if the Republicans were elected the Voice of America would begin to stir up the resistance spirit behind the Iron Curtain, letting the Poles, Czechs and others know they had the moral backing of the United States.

Ike Went Out On Limb

General Eisenhower went just about as far in a speech before the American Legion in New York, Aug. 25. This was what especially aroused Harry Truman.

"The American conscience can never know peace until these people are restored to being masters of their own fate," the General began rather mildly. He also talked about man's brotherhood under the fatherhood of God and so on. Then he warmed up.

"We can never rest," he said, "and we must so inform the world, including the Kremlin—that until the enslaved nations of the world have the fullness of freedom, the right to choose their own path, that then and then only can we say that here is a possible way of living peacefully with Communism in the world."

The President told his press conference last week that his Administration had never urged the satellite peoples to armed revolt. True, he never used that word. But here is exactly what he said:

"We must tell the Kremlin that never shall we desist in our aid to every man and woman of those shackled lands who seeks refuge with us, any man who keeps burning among his own people the flame of freedom or is dedicated to the liberation of his fellow men."

Truman's Fiery Reply

To this, former President Truman, speaking at Parkersburg, W. Va., September 2, replied:

"The fate of the people in the Soviet borderland is one of the greatest tragedies of human times... We shall never forget these people. But we shall never treat their plight... as matters for partisan debate. Millions upon millions of human beings are going through dreadful agony, and it is not for us to play cheap politics with their needs and fears and hopes. Yet that is exactly what these Republicans have begun to do."

Looking And Finding

By Brother Barnabas

It's a universal human trait to be always looking for something or somebody.

The baby in his cradle begins looking for his bottle and knows how to get it.

Micawber was always waiting for something to turn up. In his case it did finally, when in Australia he became a magnate.

Don't Depend On Luck

But it will not do to depend on luck as many do, for the sure thing about luck is that it may change. You'll have better luck crossing a busy street if you wait for the green light.

Diogenes went about the streets of Athens in the daytime with a lighted candle looking for an honest man.

The world is still looking for honest shopkeepers, bankers, builders, grocers, lawyers, people we can trust. Then if they can trust us we can do business.

Aspiring youth are hardly in dungarees until they begin to think about a job and whom and when and if they shall marry.

Crazy About Girls

A woman of my acquaintance was fearful that her 12-year-old son would grow up to be a woman hater, he was so squeamish about girls. But now, grown older, he is crazy about them and she's afraid he will plunge into matrimony before he has money enough to pay the preacher.

A man is never old till he stops looking. When if ever he will marry is indeterminate. There is a legend that anyone unmarried will remain single as many years as the number of times the cuckoo called after it was first heard. Some bachelors I know have lost count.

It's a belief in Warwickshire that if a maid will run into the fields in the early morning to hear the first note of the cuckoo, then will take off her shoe and look into it, she will find there a man's hair of the same color as her future husband's.

May Be Bald

If she found no hair I suppose he would be bald, or would soon be after she married him.

Not all couples are as congenial as Darby and Joan, "The Happy Old Couple." Some are as mis-matched as Socrates and Xantippe, of Thomas Carlyle and the beautiful and brilliant Jane Welsh.

"All Europeans know quite well that insurrections in the Soviet borderlands could only be successful with armed support from the outside world."

"If the Republicans don't mean to give that armed support—and I feel sure they don't—then they are playing cruel, gutter politics with the lives of countless good men and women behind the Iron Curtain."

"Surely," concluded Mr. Truman from the rear of his train in Parkersburg, W. Va., "the Republicans must know that the Iron Curtain and the Kremlin walls will not come tumbling down from a few blasts on a campaign trumpet."

Our Voice Is Delayed

On September 3, one day after reading the Truman speech, John Foster Dulles held a press conference at which he replied that the Truman "mood of weakness, timidity, and appeasement is the sure road to war."

On October 30 the Hungarian rebels had almost pushed Russian forces out of Budapest. Moscow indicated it would appease.

On November 3 the UN called for a vote of censure of Moscow. The UN had been procrastinating all week.

Soviet delegates on November 3 argued that the Security Council should not act that day. "Things were settling down in Hungary, the UN should not intervene," they said.

Other delegates disagreed. Delegate after delegate urged immediate action. Finally, spoke U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge:

"We believe," he said, "that adjournment for a day or two would give a real opportunity to the Hungarian Government to carry out its announced decision to arrange for an orderly and immediate evacuation of all Soviet troops. In this spirit I would be willing to adjourn until tomorrow or the next day."

That virtually ended the discussion. The Australian delegate argued vigorously against Lodge, urged the Council not to adjourn but to act immediately.

There was a vote. The USA voted against Australia and for the Soviet.

Before the next day dawned, new Soviet armored divisions were crushing Hungary.

The Truman Administration made mistakes in handling Russia. So has the Eisenhower Administration. Anyway, that is the record.

Alcoholics Usually Dependent On Other People

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A few years ago I wrote about Dr. David J. Myerson's attempt to rehabilitate a group of men from Boston's skid row. The results of his experiment made him decide to continue the project. Recently he reported further observations on 101 of these destitute and homeless alcoholics.

Dr. Myerson is convinced the basic fault lies in their personal relations with others. He concludes: "... these men cannot give; they can only take from a supplier or protector, who usually is a woman. She is loved only so far as she tries to fulfill their insatiable demands. Sooner or later he loses this person and, unable to form a new relation, sinks into the pattern of the skid row life."

Why do men take this attitude and behave in this way? The majority are emotionally immature and show unusual regressed and primitive attitudes toward others. They depend upon someone else to supply liquor or money but if their benefactors get fed up and refuse further help, these friends become enemies in the alcoholic's mind.

Such men ultimately alienate all their friends and relatives and land in jail. Once completely separated from friends and family ties, they are not responsible to anyone and indulge in uncontrolled drinking. They beg, borrow, or steal money and occasionally are so desperate they will drink anything from hair tonic to the alcohol in the radiator of a car.

Rehabilitation enters the picture after they have sobered up in jail. It is at this stage of the game that Dr. Myerson took over. The rehabilitation program at Long Island hospital in Boston involves not only food and shelter but an opportunity to attain sufficient emotional stability to stand on their own feet.

There was improvement in 54 of the 101 men in the group but only 12 were able to renounce alcohol completely and restore themselves to their families. Only one of the group was able to re-establish himself with his wife. Twenty have remained sober for three years but they depend upon the hospital as their protector.

There were 47 complete failures out of 101. Dr. Myerson is convinced that the rehabilitation of these men is a trying and difficult job.

PRECAUTIONARY EATING

H. D. writes: Would you recommend not eating foods rich in cholesterol even though you have no coronary thrombosis?

REPLY

This is a moot question as most of the evidence that cholesterol is related to arteriosclerosis is based on laboratory animal research. If you believe that what happens to animals also happens to humans or if you are a person who has unusual faith in diets, you may wish to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our list of foods high in cholesterol.

Remember Minerva Pious who played the role of Pansy Nussbaum on Fred Allen's old—and wonderful—radio program? Her husband, Pierre, she used to mourn, was a luckless "schmo" who squandered his entire income at "Epstein Downs and Hia-Levy."

"Pierre has such bad luck," wailed Mrs. Nussbaum once, "that if it was raining borscht outside, he'd be standing with a fork. He would also miss the potato!"

The late Fred Allen himself recalled that the networks were so worried about his scripts, they assigned two lawyers to supervise the show. "They both were so short," said Fred, "they were only good to put things on top of. Their objections usually ran to about 200 pages. They were probably the only men who wrote more than they could lift."

Hungarians Hate U. S. For Urging Anti-Russ Revolt, Backing Down

WASHINGTON — Newsmen in southeast Europe report that, next to Russia, the United States is the most hated nation in Hungary. Freedom fighters spit when the name America is mentioned. "You have been telling us to revolt," they are reported as saying. "Yet when we face Russian tanks, you stand by and watch them crush us."

Much of this is unfair, some of it inevitable. Turmoil inside the satellite countries was bound to come. But to see who had the greatest long-range view of the satellite problem, let's take a look at the record—among others that of Harry S. Truman.

Mr. Truman is the man who branded me with initials now currently featured in the Saturday Evening Post under the caption "Confessions of an S. O. B." I owe him no debt of gratitude.

Despite this I should like to call attention to some farsightedness on Harry's part when he warned the American people, September 2, 1952, of exactly what is now taking place in Hungary.

"Nothing could be worse," said Truman, "than to raise false hopes of this (insurrection) in eastern Europe. Nothing could be worse than to incite uprisings that could only end by giving a new crop of victims to the Soviet executioners."

Truman, then President of the United States, was replying to two speeches made by John Foster Dulles and Gen. Dwight D.

Eisenhower encouraging the satellite nations and virtually, if not actually, promising them aid.

Miami Hands First Shutout In 55 Games, 18-0

Oliver Boots Field Goal In First Period

Hurricanes Score Two TDs, Safety In 7th Triumph

By GENE PLOWDEN

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 23 (AP) — The University of Miami Hurricanes took another long stride toward an undefeated football season tonight when they whipped West Virginia 18-0 for their seventh victory before 37,073 shivering fans in the Orange Bowl.

The Hurricanes, with only a 7-7 tie with Georgia to blemish their record, outgained and outgained the hefty West Virginians all the way and only once did the visitors seriously threaten.

They drove to the Miami eight where Bob Stewart intercepted Mickey Trimarki's third-down pass late in the third quarter.

A field goal, two touchdowns and a safety produced Miami's scoring.

The first half was all Miami's as the Hurricanes scored first on Ed Oliver's 16-yard field goal—his first of the season—with 5:42 left in the opening period.

A touchdown and a safety in the second increased the margin to 12 points and the Hurricanes added the final touchdown with 1:31 left in the game.

It was West Virginia's first shutout in 55 ball games. The Mountaineers couldn't penetrate Miami's fast, hard-charging line and their passers couldn't find receivers.

Bossler Gains 79 Yards

Don Bossler, Miami's All-American fullback candidate, gained 79 yards in 19 plays on the ground and picked up 24 yards through the air to run his season total to 320 on the ground. He now has gained 1,448 yards during his college career to break all records for a Miami fullback.

A Miami drive carried 57 yards but stopped on the two when Bossler fumbled a Sam Scarnecchia pass and Bob Snider recovered for West Virginia.

Mike Hudock intercepted a West Virginia pass and returned it 25 yards to the West Virginia 20 from where Bonnie Yarborough passed to Paul Hefti for the first touchdown.

A bad pass from center went over Chuck Howley's head and Miami downed him for a safety. Scarnecchia rammed through from the one for Miami's final score with 1:31 left in the game.

Miami rolled up 18 first downs to 9 for West Virginia and gained 185 yards on the ground to only 45 for the visitors.

Miami completed 11 of 24 pass attempts for 139 yards while West Virginia completed 8 of 22 for 121 yards. Miami intercepted 4 West Virginia passes and the green-jerseyed Hurricanes had a total yardage of 324 to only 166 for their opponents.

Oliver carried the ball 9 times for a net gain of 30 yards.

Larry Krutko, West Virginia fullback, gained 26 yards in 13 tries and Sammy Sizemore picked up 21 in 6 attempts.

10,000 Set Game

The temperature was a chilly 39 degrees at kickoff and that probably held the crowd to 10,000 under the turnout for last week's Miami-Clemson game.

Miami, on probation from the NCAA, is ineligible for a bowl game but the Hurricanes have whipped South Carolina, Boston College, Maryland, Texas Christian, Florida State, Clemson and now West Virginia. They still have games left to play against Florida and Pittsburgh.

Miami 18-0 West Virginia 0-0

Scoring: Miami Touchdowns: Hefti (pass) 20; Scarnecchia (buck-1), conversion—Oliver, Field goal—Oliver (16), Safety (Howley downed by Wallace).

Fort Hill Keeps Title, Defeats Allegany, 20-0

Fumbles Set Up All Scores; Beall High Jolts LaSalle, 7-6

Capitalizing on a trio of fumbles by the opposition in the third quarter, Fort Hill High School's Sentinels exploded for three touchdowns to defeat Allegany High School by the score of 20-0 before approximately 5,500 persons in their annual Thanksgiving Day game at the Greenway Avenue Bowl.

For two periods the city eleven had battled to a scoreless tie and then midway in the third period things really happened.

The alert Bill Powell set up the first Sentinel score when he recovered Lonnie Jackson's fumble on the 30 and four plays later John Kesler scored from 10 yards out. Later a bobble by Doug Walker on the 33 and Carl Harbaugh's recovery paved the way for the second score which was made by Dalton Hillegas.

Doug Mick kicked the extra point to make the score 13-0.

George Stimmel recovered Dave Conley's fumble on the AHS 29 to set up the third Fort Hill touchdown which came five plays later and was credited to Kesler.

After Powell's pass to Hillegas had netted 27 yards and advanced the ball to the four, Metz converted from placement and that concluded the scoring for the day and gave the Fort Hill team, directed by Wayne Boor and Joe Pellerzi, its third straight city championship. It marked the ninth time in eleven years that Fort Hill had emerged the victor in the Turkey Day game. The 1948 and 1953 games ended in ties.

Allegany had an 8-6 edge on Fort Hill in first downs but the Sentinels outgained the Ciphers in net yards rushing, 117 to 113. The winners completed four of eight passes for 42 yards and Allegany tried six aeriels and completed two for 20 yards. Kesler paced the Fort Hill ground gainers with 54 yards and Jackson led Allegany with 55.

Fort Hill wound up the season with a 7-2 record while the Campbell eleven, shut out for the fourth time, won three, lost five and played one tie. The win enabled the Sentinels to tie Hagerstown for the championship of the Cumberland Valley Athletic League, each school having won four games and lost one. Allegany, incidentally, handed the Hubs their only loss, 14-7, while Hagerstown dealt out the only league setback to Fort Hill, 20-0.

Beall Spills LaSalle
Biggest surprise on Thanksgiving Day was registered at Frostburg where Beall High School, on the receiving end most of the season, rose up and smacked down LaSalle High's favored Explorers to the tune of 7-6 on a 96-yard pass play engineered by Pete Wilson and Jim Waites that tied the score and Bill Groves' placement for the extra point that decided the game in the final period.

Wilson passed to Waites, who snared the ball on his own four and dashed almost the full length of the field to score Beall's touchdown.

Bill Becker smashed over from the 2-yard line to give LaSalle a 6-0 lead in the third period. Paul Nolan's try for the point, however, sailed wide of the uprights.

The defeat knocked LaSalle out of the 500 class for the season with a 4-5 record. The victory was Beall's first over LaSalle since 1949. It was Beall's first win over the Explorers in six games since Norman F. Geatz Jr., took over the local team in 1951. The Mountain City eleven, completing its first season under Coach James Mangas, wound up with a 2-6 record.

Tennessee May Strike Snag In Kentucky Game

Clemson And Duke, Yale And Harvard Will Clash Today

[By The Associated Press]

Three conference races and at least one bowl position will be settled today in traditional close-out football games while national pacesetters Oklahoma and Tennessee reach semifinal tests in their bids for perfect seasons.

Clemson and Duke are in two spotlight games with the Atlantic Coast Conference championship and an Orange Bowl bid hanging in the balance.

Clemson (3-9-1 in the ACC) meets Virginia, and Duke (3-1) is at North Carolina.

Though they are not committed to pick the titleholder, the Atlantic Coast representatives will name their "most representative team" tomorrow to play Colorado of the Big Seven on New Year's Day. South Carolina, a third possibility, has finished its season with a 5-2 ACC record.

Yale Seeks Title

Yale needs to get by Harvard in their 73rd classic to be assured of the first official Ivy League crown. The Elis, who clinched at least a tie by smothering runner-up Princeton last week, are solid favorites to make a clean sweep of the Ivies and gain their first undisputed "Big Three" title since 1946.

Though Iowa already has at least a share of the coveted Big Ten championship and a Rose Bowl trip assured, Ohio State can salvage a title deadlock by whipping Michigan.

Ohio State, which lost a chance at a third consecutive unblemished championship to Iowa last week, still can become only the sixth club in 61 years to grab at least a piece of the crown three years running. Michigan has done it three times and Minnesota twice.

Oklahoma isn't worried about extending its winning streak to 39 games against Nebraska. The nation's foremost collegiate power has too much class for Big Seven opponents and only a catastrophe can prevent the Sooners from making it 40 in a row in next week's windup with Oklahoma A&M.

Vois Face Kentucky

Tennessee, No. 2 in the latest Associated Press poll, expects much tougher sledding against the pesky Kentucky Wildcats. The Volunteers lead the Southeastern Conference (4-0) but still have two league games remaining.

Coach Bowden Wyatt's Knoxville contingent, after two rough meetings with Georgia Tech and Mississippi, run into a Kentucky eleven which has spurred to five consecutive triumphs after losing three of its first four games.

Since 1951 when Tennessee won the national championship, the Vois haven't been able to handle the Wildcats—the same Kentuckians who spoiled perfect records for the Vois with ties in 1928, 1929 and 1931.

Right behind Tennessee are Georgia Tech and Florida who meet with identical 5-1 Southeastern marks. The winner has a chance to pass Tennessee should the Vois falter and a Tech victory would all but guarantee a bowl trip for the Yellow Jackets. Florida must forego post-season competition because of NCAA probationary action.

Like the SEC, the Southwest Conference has another action-packed week after this one but Texas Christian hopes to move closer to a Cotton Bowl berth by defeating Rice today. League leading Texas A&M is ineligible for post-season action.

A cross-town rivalry spiced by the desire of two penalty-ridden teams to prove their continued grid superiority is the national television fare with UCLA and Southern California in starring roles.

Irish Face Iowa

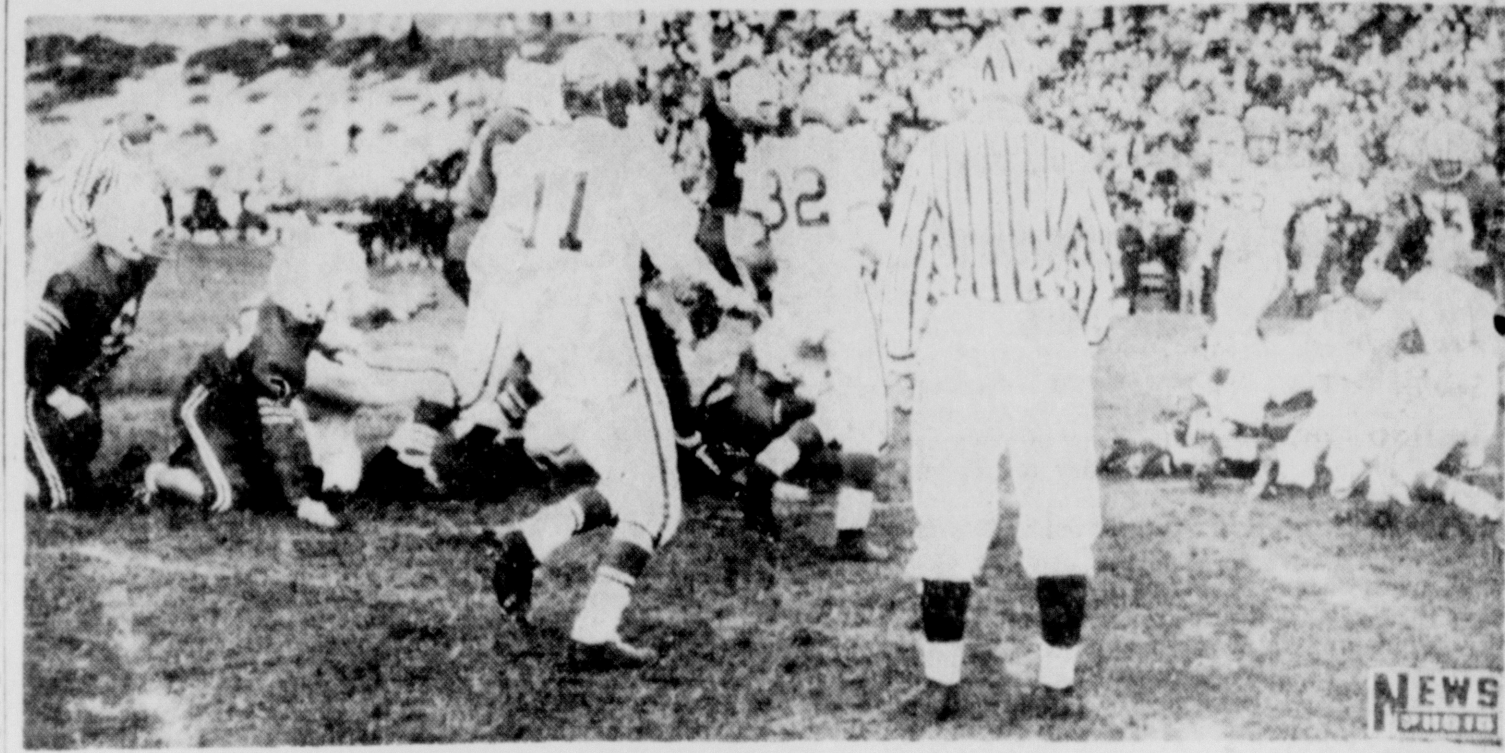

Notre Dame would like to bolster its sagging prestige in the midst of its worst season on record by upsetting Iowa. The Hawkeyes, in turn, are out to show their mean business, all of which points to a full afternoon.

Fords Boost Lead In Hot Rod League

The Fords upped their lead to six games in the Hot Rod Mixed Bowling League by sweeping three games from the Mercuries. Plymouth scored a 2-1 decision over the Chevrolets and the DeSotos made it two out of three from the last place Dodges. The high scorers:

Fords — Frank Drake 159-432, Mercuries — John Lindeman 178-366, Plymouths — Chester Benson 158-416, Chevrolets — Russell Myers 187-427, Dodges — Jess Johnson 170, Donald Layton 417, DeSotos — Paul Rudolph 184-407.

KESLER PLUNGES FOR TOUCHDOWN—John Kesler, Fort Hill halfback, is on the bottom of the pile on right as he plunged over from the two-yard line to score the Sentinels' third and final touchdown as Allegany lost the annual Thanksgiving

Day grid game to their crosstown rivals by the score of 20-0. Kesler also scored the first Fort Hill six-pointer in the same quarter on a 10-yard run. The victory enabled Fort Hill to retain the city championship. Allegany last won in 1945.

Lyle Luttrell Slugged, Gets $5,000 Damages

Chattanooga Player Suffered Broken Jaw

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 23 (AP)—A Chattanooga baseball player whose jaw was broken in a 1955 Southern Assn. game won $5,000 damages today in Circuit Court here.

Shortstop Lyle Luttrell filed a suit asking $50,000 from the Nashville Vols and their catcher, Earl Averill, after Averill slugged Luttrell during a ball game Aug. 20, 1955.

Averill readily admitted hitting Luttrell. He said he stepped up and slugged him after Luttrell was hit by a pitched ball.

He said the fourth pitch by Vol pitcher Gerry Lane hit Luttrell and the bat flew out of his hands, landing in the infield between the pitcher's mound and third base.

"When I saw the bat fly out of Luttrell's hands, I stepped up and hit him," Averill said. "I don't know why and I've regretted it ever since."

Judge Fred Ballard said, "It is regrettable that the baseball people and the plaintiff did not adjust this matter before it got into court."

Ortega Scores Over DeMarco

Cops Split Decision In Bout At Garden

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP)—Gaspar Ortega, a 4-to-1 underdog from Mexicali, Mexico, fended in Tony DeMarco in the early rounds and matched the ex-welter champ punch for punch down the stretch to win a surprise split decision in a 10-round match tonight at Madison Square Garden.

DeMarco weighed 145½, Ortega 147½.

Ortega's corner crew staged a wild celebration that usually goes with a title victory after ring announcer Johnny Addie announced he had upset the chunky Boston slugger.

Referee Al Berl voted 6-3-1 for Ortega, Judge Jack Gordon 5-4-1 for Ortega but Judge Frank Forbes scored it in favor of DeMarco 6-4. The AP card had it for Ortega 5-4-1. Forbes' vote was booed by many.

A quick poll of writers at ringside indicated an edge to DeMarco.

Ortega's speed and rapier jab pilled up points against the slow-moving DeMarco in the early rounds, but the ex-champ cut loose in the fourth and fifth with a withering attack that slowed down the Mexican.

Ortega outsped Tony in the seventh and took charge in the eighth and ninth when he had the better of a series of wild flurries. The Mexican found his mark repeatedly with a long right to the head and a left hook.

Chicago Bears Test Giants In NFL Key Game Sunday

Windy City Team Rated As Favorite

Bears Have Copped Seven In Row; Cards To Host Pittsburgh

(By The Associated Press)

The powerful Chicago Bears, with an excellent chance of opening a one game lead over Detroit in the Western Division, take on the New York Giants in one of the key games of the National Football League season Sunday.

The Bears have won seven games in a row since their opening loss to Baltimore. They have been installed as slight favorites to beat the Giants, who pace the Eastern Conference with a 6-2 mark.

Giants Hold Lead

Jim Lee Howell's New Yorkers were riding high until they were knocked off by the Washington Redskins last Sunday. They held a one game edge over the runner-up Chicago Cardinals, who, in turn, are a half game in front of third-place Washington.

The Cards will be seeking revenge against the same Pittsburgh team that handed them a 14-7 defeat last week. The Cards will be at home for this one.

In other games, the Redskins will be at Cleveland, Los Angeles at Baltimore and San Francisco at Philadelphia.

Skins Are Contenders

Washington, after three consecutive defeats at the season's start, has gained the reputation as the NFL's "spoilers." The "Skins" have dumped Cleveland, the Cards, Detroit and the Giants to move into a contending position in the eastern race. Cleveland whipped Philadelphia 16-0 last Sunday and will be seeking to break a fourth-place deadlock with the Eagles and Pittsburgh.

Both Baltimore and Los Angeles lost last weekend. The Colts dropped a 27-3 decision to the Lions while the Rams gave the Bears a battle before bowing 30-21. San Francisco surprised Green Bay 17-16 last Sunday after five straight setbacks. A victory over Philadelphia coupled with a Los Angeles setback by the Colts will enable the 49ers to break a tie for last place with their West Coast rivals in the western half of the circuit.

Ambehaving Seeks Purse Of $71,735

New Jersey Colt Among Seven In Futurity Today

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE, Nov. 23 (AP)—New Jersey, which has sent forth only two winners of the Kentucky Derby, will be watching Ambehaving in tomorrow's Pimlico Futurity for further encouragement as its hope in next year's classic at Louisville.

If Ambehaving can knock off the half dozen other 2-year-olds in the mile and sixteenth race it will be his fifth major triumph this year. The $71,735 first money would hike Ambehaving's bankroll in his first season on the race tracks to $188,125.

That would put him ahead of Calumet Farm's Barbizon and Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler, two of the year's most highly regarded 1957 derby candidates who have quit racing until next year.

Out to throw a stumbling block in Ambehaving's path tomorrow will be Greentree Stable's Cohoes, John A. Morris' Missile, Ada L. Rice's pair of Indian Creek and Man Up Stairs, Brandywine Stable's Cannon Fire and Maine Chance Farm's Jet Ex.

Ambehaving beat Missile and Cohoes Nov. 8 in the Remsen Handicap in New York and it was that race which pushed the New Jersey colt into derby speculation.

Before, he had been looked upon only as champ in his own back yard by winning three stakes limited to colts born in New Jersey.

New Jersey's last Kentucky Derby winner was Cavalcade in 1934. The other was Regret, the only victorious filly, in 1915.

Televueers throughout the nation will be able to watch the race (CBS) at 3:35 p.m. EST.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 23 (INS)—This week on a vacation, and while he's here he will read Dorothy Kingsley's screenplay and offer her any additional suggestions he feels are important.

Harry Karl telephoned to tell me that he has never refused Marie McDonald a Mexican divorce. "I don't care what she does," he told me. "We're divorced in California and all this sounds as if I wanted her back. I don't want her. I've had it."

Harry, who does much for charity and has never been known to turn down a worthy appeal, is currently being seen with Zsa Zsa Gabor. I asked him if he is going to marry Zsa Zsa.

He said, "I don't want to marry anyone, but like her very much."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The date Tony Perkins had with Maria Cooper, Gary's young beauty, at the "Teahouse" premiere was not studio arranged. He met her at a party and likes her.

"Wayward Bus," which the voluptuous Jayne starts in ten days, still has no director or leading man.

When success comes to a girl like Lisa Kirk you can't help but be happy. Lisa, who is in Hollywood for a few days before she takes off for the El Rancho Vegas where she opens Nov. 28, told me she has an entirely new act.

"And you figure in it," she said. Her husband, Bob Wells, and Kay Thompson wrote her material and Nick Castle has done the choreography.

While Lisa is here she will discuss with those two young geniuses Stanley Kubrick and James Harris the top role in "The Unfaithful Wife." Stanley and James are the two lads who made that sleeper, "The Killing," which received such great notices.

The little East Indian actress Anna Kashfi, who has been so sick for so many months, almost ever since she finished "The Mountain," has told MGM she'll be ready to work in "Don't Go Near The Water" by Jan. 1.

William Brinkley, author of this best seller, is due in Hollywood

Agnes Moorehead, with Paul Gregory, looked better than I have ever seen her in a flame colored gown.

Ann Miller's date for the evening was Hal Hayes. They were with the William Peireras.

After the premiere, the Vine Street Derby looked like the good old days with Gregory Peck and his attractive Veronica, the Joseph Cottens, Francis and Edgar Bergen, and Charlie Coburn going on from the theater.

Susan Strasberg, all done up in a purple sweater, was Yul Brynner's luncheon guest at the Paramount commissary. Her day was complete with C. B. De Mille and Y. Frank Freeman stopping by her table.

The young lady Bill Perlberg introduced at the same party as Miss French his new star, was in reality Countess Afelda Franchetti, Henry Fonda's big moment.

Audie Murphy is terribly broken up over the death of his 29-year old brother, Richard, who died of brain cancer.

Dorothy Dandridge, in London with Harry Belafonte for scenes in "Island in the Sun," sent for her heavy clothes. Darryl Zanuck, himself, is directing the scene, the first time he's done this.

That's all today. See you Monday.

Television And Radio

by John Crosby

While John Crosby is on vacation, his column will be conducted by guest writers. Today's contributor is Arlene Francis.

By ARLENE FRANCIS

Except for panel shows such as "What's My Line," (what do you mean, "such as?") for which any preparation whatsoever would be ruinous to the spontaneity, there is no substitute for rehearsal. It is therefore sometimes disarming for people to think you're having a ball when you've completed a program that in your mind is analogous to the labors of Hercules.

How often have you heard someone say, "What I like about him is he's so natural." Many times, of course. The dearie beloveds, the cozy casual chums of the television screen are all as relaxed as cooked spaghetti. But what you are looking at is not a question of "do" what comes naturally. It is the result of arduous careful preparation. Every single thing that a performer means to do must be timed and rehearsed with such thoroughness, that when the switch is turned on Channel 4 he will convey the impression of absolute ease.

When were we out of town some time ago, a very charming lady who was to appear with her family on a remote telecast of "Home," (NBC-TV 11 a.m. (E.S.T.)) spoke these hospitable words. "We'll just send the little Jag for yew and yew skeddadle over 'bout eight thirty and we'll have a grand breakfast laced with champagne and there'll be jest thirty or forty of our closest friends who are dyin' 'bout meet yew, and then 'bout quarter tew 'leven we'll jest glide over tew the club and we'll be all ready for your lil' ol' T.V.!"

In an unintentional way her invitation was a great compliment. She figured we were so relaxed on "Home" we must make it up as we go along. On the contrary our relaxation is the result of the most complicated planning, the ultimate in concentration and a miracle of liaison between director, kilocycle, and cast. On a remote, this "natural" performance requires roughly seven hours of rehearsal per show.

A remote is any television program out of bounds of its regular emanation point, the emanation point in our case being an enormous circular studio constructed especially for us about a wave's length from Rockefeller Center. So that when we leave our electronic cage, there are those that say we have begun to look like squirrels; we almost always travel unfamiliar territory, taking on as we go unfamiliar crews. By the end of a week, we know the territory as well as the back of our hands—and the crews (who should be cited for bravery under fire) a good deal better! All this assimilation necessitates 4 a.m. rising. Rising, I am impelled to add, like a phoenix from the ashes, since audio-video alchemy burns us up at the end of each day. Stealthily we meet the dawn fortified with a soggy Danish and a swish of black coffee. The central trucks that house the apparatus and engineers designed to get the picture on the tube; the camera lifts that swing high over battleships of buildings; the endless miles of cable strung out by men still dizzy from yesterday's tangle and the furtive planning of the commercial director trying to sneak a deep freeze into an old Spanish patio; these are all there in action as the ragged little band of performers arrive. From the moment the voice of the director is heard over the land with the words, "From The Top," all "Home" breaks loose.

The complexities of remotes often create mishaps both horrendous and hilarious. The one that stands out in my mind as the cherry on the charlotte russe favors hilarity. We were doing the program poolside at the Beverly Hilton Hotel in California. By about 6 a.m. we could all see each other through the wet blanket of smog and it was time

Two Students
Die In Crash

Two students at Georgetown University, Washington, were killed outright in a truck-automobile accident Wednesday night as they were heading for the Brezewood interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, while another, the driver of the car, died shortly after being admitted to Bedford County (Pa.) Memorial Hospital.

Killed were Michael P. Nee, 21, of Pittsburgh the driver; Samuel A. Moran, 20, of City, Pa., and David J. Morton 3rd, 19, Philadelphia. Another passenger in the car, Harry Brady, 20, also of Pittsburgh, suffered a fractured leg in the fatal accident.

All were students at Georgetown and were enroute to Pittsburgh for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Baker told Pennsylvania State Police that it had started to sleet after the car left Hancock on Route 126. The accident occurred just over the Pennsylvania State line when the auto skidded into the path of an oncoming tractor-trailer.

Probationer Draws Six Month Term

Harry Reger, this city, Wednesday was sentenced by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court to serve six months in the Maryland House of Correction for violating the terms of his probation.

Reger was tried August 28 by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason on a charge of being a habitual drunkard and was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction. He appealed and then pleaded guilty before Judge Harris October 19. Judge Harris gave him six months in the House of Correction but suspended it on condition that Reger abstain from the use of intoxicating beverages.

On November 1 Reger was charged with being drunk, and Magistrate Mason gave him 20 days in jail. Because of this conviction Judge Harris yesterday revoked the suspended sentence.

Secrets Of Charm

Watch Your Lipline
Besides giving your face its most glamorous touch, lipstick can improve the shape of your lips.

If your mouth is too wide, taper the lipstick off before you reach the corner with your lipstick brush. In the other hand, if your mouth isn't wide enough, bring the lipstick completely around the corners.

If your lips are too thin, apply lipstick just outside the natural lines of the mouth in a full curve. If they are too thick, cover the edges with foundation and powder when you apply your make-up and draw an artificial lipline inside your actual lip margins.

For a mouth that turns down at the corners, end the lipstick just short of the corners on the upper lip and bring it out to the corners or the lower lip. This will give the mouth a slight upcurve that is much more pleasing than a droopy mouth.

But whatever you do, never let your lip brush go more than the maximum of one-sixteenth of an inch above the regular lip outline. It is better to flatten out the center.

If you have a crooked mouth, even up where necessary. In all your reshaping, be sure to follow the natural lipline wherever possible. If you use an indelible lipstick for changing the shape you can establish a fairly permanent tracing of the line wanted. For easier application, powder the mouth before brushing on lipstick.

Briefly here are the rules for reshaping the mouth. Large mouth? Cheat the corners. Small mouth? Extend circumference. Full lips? Undercut width. Thin lips? Overlap natural line. Droopy mouth? Flick up corners. Crooked mouth? Even up where necessary.

Gas Rate Appeal Report Asked By City-County

Legislative Plan To Be Discussed

The Mayor and Council and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday asked their attorneys to develop points on which the Public Service Commission order increasing gas rates in Western Maryland could be appealed and to present a report at a joint meeting December 7 at 1:30 p. m. in City Hall.

The city and county officials also asked Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, and Gorman E. Getty, county attorney, to report on legislation which might be sought in the General Assembly in connection with the fixing of public utility rates in Maryland.

William H. Lemmert, president of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, made the formal request for the reports yesterday afternoon as city and county officials met to discuss the possibilities of filing an appeal to the PSC order in the Circuit Court.

Have Until Jan. 9

The attorneys told Mr. Lemmert an appeal may be filed within 60 days of November 9, the day the PSC ordered the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company to boost rates enough to produce from $98,329 to $120,854 in net revenue.

On Monday, the PSC approved the company's new rate schedule.

The first bills reflecting the new rates were mailed by the company yesterday. These statements covering the period ending November 12 include four days at the new rates which will boost average monthly bills of those who do not heat with gas by about 60 cents a month and about 72 cents a month for those who heat their homes with gas.

Discuss Appeal

Getty pointed out that if the city and county file an appeal it must be on the grounds that the action of the Public Service Commission was illegal, arbitrary and unreasonable.

New evidence may not be entered, Mr. Finan said, and the city-county case would be limited to what is on the record.

It might be possible, however, that an engineer might re-study data in the case, he added.

The officials briefly discussed a number of points which might be used in an appeal. These included:

The Snee-Eberlee purchase item. The protesters argued that the rate base should be reduced by $481,583.14, representing the unpaid balance due owners when the hearings were held.

That the $97,877 cost to C & A for the three rate cases since 1942 be amortized over 10 years instead of the five-year period. Getty and Finan insist the five-year write-off is historically wrong, since there had been only three rate cases in 28 years.

Costs Are High

Charges made for gas purchased from the Atlantic Seaboard, a gas transmission company.

The attorneys said C & A paid 99 cents per thousand feet of gas from Atlantic Seaboard but that gas it produces and buys from other sources costs about 27 cents.

In 1955, C & A had a contract with the transmission firm for the delivery of 12,000 MCF of gas daily if required.

The protesters argued the peak demand upon the transmission firm was only 6,297 MCF and that the company should not be allowed to charge customers for the 4,503 MCF difference between actual gas purchased and the minimum billing.

Unaccounted for gas is also an appeal possibility, the attorneys said.

They pointed out that the C&A listed a loss of 1,265,996 MCF of gas in its system in 1955.

The loss was termed "extraordinary" by the city and county, which asked that the amount be adjusted to normal.

They said the PSC decided that "in the absence of any evidence that the company is not making reasonable efforts to minimize such losses the Commission must allow the Company the amount of its measured loss."

Win Three Points

Getty pointed out that the public Service Commission adopted three of the arguments by the city and county. These are:

New Compact Meetings Set By River Group

Discussions which may lead to major revisions of the compact under which the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin operates will get underway soon.

John I. Rogers, Keyser, chairman, has called for conferences between a new Compact committee and the water pollution control agencies of states in the compact to get agreement on changes needed in the pact.

The series of meetings will open December 19 as the committee meets with the Sanitary Water Board of Pennsylvania. Meetings for Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia will follow.

Various officials of the commission are urging that the group broaden the scope of its activities and tighten control of pollution on the Potomac.

Rogers said in letters to pollution control authorities of the states that it has been suggested that the commission seek to amend its compact to include power to issue and enforce abatement orders.

Final recommendations for revisions of the compact will be offered for approval of the commission at its meeting in Washington January 31.

District Legion Posts To Meet Here Tomorrow

Mountain District of the American Legion will meet tomorrow at 2:15 p.m. at Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, here, according to Russell Paupe, district adjutant.

This is a program designed for high school students who are children of deceased veterans, who will be given a college education after finishing their high school training.

Department Service Officer Charles Michael and Department Child Welfare Commission Chairman John W. Sloan of Baltimore and Department Membership Chairman Tint Norris of Mt. Airy are expected to attend. Charles Bender, Grantsville is district vice commander.

The election was held Monday.

Miss Blonsky leads the trustees in point of service, having filled a trusteeship for almost 20 years.

Senator Charles M. See and the Allegany County Delegation will meet with James W. Stein, president, and the committee of Local 26, United Rubber Workers Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. in the Health Room of the County Building, 111 Union Street.

Four men were found guilty of hunting violations Wednesday in Trial Magistrate Court by Magistrate Donald M. Mason.

Donald L. Wilburn, Cleveland, Ohio, was fined $52 as a non-resident hunting game in the state without a license. His brother, Richard Wilburn of Eckhart, was fined $22 for hunting game without a license and $32 for hunting in a state game refuge.

Also fined Wednesday were James Harris and Donald H. Bittinger, both of RFD 2, Flintstone. Harris was charged with hunting in a state game refuge and fined $52.

Bittinger was fined $22 for hunting without a license. All the men were arrested by Joseph Keating, game warden in the Eckhart area.

Farm Statistician Seeks Information

Nearly 12,000 post cards were left at random in rural mail boxes throughout Maryland last week.

When filled out by farmers and returned these cards will help Creighton N. Guelow, Maryland statistician for the Agricultural Marketing Service, to determine the number of livestock and poultry on Maryland farms.

"With the help of the Post Office and the rural mail carriers, we're able to get an accurate picture of our state livestock and poultry holdings," Guelow said. He requests every farmer to fill out the cards accurately and return them promptly.

Woman Found Semi-Conscious In Apartment

Hospital Terms Condition "Poor"

A local middle-aged woman is in "poor" condition at Memorial Hospital, where she was taken late yesterday afternoon after having been found lying on the floor at her apartment, 637 Maryland Avenue.

She is Marie Rice who is reported semi-conscious and suffering from shock. City Police Detective James E. Van made the initial investigation.

Local police received a call yesterday about 3:55 p. m. from a neighbor who said that a commotion had occurred at the house on Thursday night.

Windows in the front of the second floor apartment had been broken out and furniture inside the house was in shambles when police arrived on the scene.

The neighbor became concerned when it was noticed the lights were burning in the house and the woman had not been seen about the premises.

Lt. Van said the woman was removed to the hospital where attaches reported last night that she was still semi-conscious and in poor condition.

She was suffering from shock. Sometime ago the woman apparently fell from the second floor porch and was hospitalized.

B&O Brakeman Seeks $15,000 From Railroad

A local B&O brakeman is suing the railroad for $15,000 in a damage suit filed yesterday afternoon in Allegany County Circuit Court. James Sisk, through his attorneys Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, claims that he sustained injuries on March 2 of this year while he was at work in the railroad yards at Brunswick.

The plaintiff said agents of the railroad negligently caused four loaded cars to be cut off from a train without a brakeman on the cars.

Sisk claims he jumped on the second car and when he attempted to brake the car he was unable to stop it and the cars ran into eight standing cars.

The plaintiff claims he was thrown against the end of the second car and suffered severe, painful and permanent injuries to his back and stomach.

He required medical and nursing attention and also lost wages while off from work.

Use Of Federal Highway Funds Is Approved

Maryland Is First State To Qualify

BALTIMORE, Nov. 23 (AP)—Maryland was cited today as the first State to receive the Government's final approval on plans for using its entire allotment of 1957 Federal highway funds.

The State is scheduled to receive 12-million dollars next year under the recently enacted interstate highway program.

Robert O. Bonnell, State Roads Commission chairman, said the 1957 money will be used on six projects, four of them already under contract. They actually will cost more than the Federal allotment, Bonnell said, and about $2,200,000 of the 1958 allotment also will be used for them.

C. D. Curtiss, commissioner of public roads in the Department of Commerce, in a letter congratulated Bonnell on Maryland's being the first State to receive Federal approval of its plans.

Bonnell reported to Gov. McKel-din that three of the six projects deal with the Baltimore County Beltway. The biggest of these is a $3,668,300 project linking Wilkens Avenue in Southwest Baltimore to U.S. 40 on the beltway.

The others are a $2,955,000 stretch running from the Patapsco River to Wilkens Avenue and a $2,979,600 project to link the Du-lane Valley Road with Cromwell Bridge Road.

The plans also include $590,000 on the Frederick by-pass, from the Washington National Pike to U.S. 40; $970,000 on the by-pass project from Shaw Road to U.S. 240, and $1,920,000 on the Washington National Pike project from Falls Road to Tuckerman Lane.

"The Federal Interstate Funds involved in these undertakings amount to $14,236,270 and a total including State and Federal funds of $17,627,348," Bonnell wrote the governor.

"Since Maryland was allotted only 12-million dollars for 1957, it is clear that we have already used the $2,246,270 of the 1958 allotment or thereabouts."

Conlon Gets National Legion Appointment

Thomas F. Conlon, local postmaster and long-time active member of the American Legion, has been appointed to serve as a general member of the Rehabilitation Advisory Board of the American Legion.

Conlon was notified of the appointment by W. C. "Dan" Daniel, national commander, yesterday.

His term of service is to run until the close of the 1957 fall meeting of the national executive committee. The national commander said the appointment was given full approval of the Legion's national executive committee.

More Cold Weather Is In Offing

Snow Flurries Forecast Today

You had better button up your overcoat because continued cold weather is in the offing.

More snow flurries like the ones that visited the area yesterday are predicted for this section today, especially in the mountains. Cloudy skies and continued cold weather is forecast and the temperatures are to range from 25 to 32 degrees.

Maryland State Police said last night that all highways were clear and passable although cinder crews were called out in nearby Garrett County which as usual got the worst of the wintry blast the past two days.

U. S. Route 50 along Allegheny Front west of Keyser was reported to have snow but the highway was passable. And the highway east toward Winchester was clear.

The snow which fell here yesterday about noon began to look like a heavy fall was in store. However it melted quickly as it hit the ground and by last night it was very cold outside.

Unofficially the temperature was down to 24 degrees at 9 p. m. and slowly dipping. During the past two days about three inches of snow fell in sections of Garrett County.

Frostburg had about an inch and a half of snow as a result of the winter storm which set in and the mercury tumbled to 13 degrees above zero yesterday in Oakland.

Lonaconing Man Accidentally Shoots Self While Hunting

Robert Warnick, 21, of Det-mold, Lonaconing, a son of Mrs. John L. Warnick, was admitted to Garrett Memorial Hospital in Oakland Thursday evening, suffering from a self-inflicted gunshot wound in his left arm.

The mishap, termed an accidental shooting, occurred while the young man was hunting in Garrett County with two companions. Two Oakland physicians performed surgery on the arm in an effort to save it. Last night, the young man's condition was reported satisfactory but the wound is a serious one.

Md. Democrats List $90,752 Campaign Costs

BALTIMORE, Nov. 23 (AP)—Maryland Democrats spent $90,752.82 in their recent overall election campaign, a report filed by the Stevenson-Kefauver Committee showed today.

Nearly half of the expenses listed by the committee—$44,128—were described in the report merely as "election expenses" paid to various Baltimore party figures.

An informed source said this was "precinct money" or money to be paid to party workers who pass out sample ballots and other literature at the polls. This would average slightly more than $82 per each of the 537 polling places in the city.

The committee's figures do not cover the separate campaign treasury kept for George P. Mahoney, the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate. His campaign treasurer, William P. Webb, said he expects to file his campaign statement in Baltimore County Circuit Court next week.

The committee reported receipts totaling $91,253.39. Of this, $40,000 was the residue of money raised by the party's 1955 "Victory Dinner." Another $30,000 came from the 1956 "Victory Dinner."

Other contributions included the United Women's Democratic Clubs, $1,000; George P. Mahoney, $8,500; William McMillan, $2,000; R. Walter Graham, $500; Frank W. Cuccia, $500; John Lee Davis, $500; David Hume $500; Samuel N. Friedel, $670; Edward A. Garmatz, $670; and George H. Fallon $670.

Mrs. Durst Talks To Husband In Tokyo, Japan

Mrs. Alice Durst, wife of Pfc. Joseph R. Durst Jr., Jeffries Apartments, Stoyer and Broadway, Frostburg, received a telephone call last night at 8 o'clock from her husband who is in Tokyo.

Pfc. Durst told his wife he has been stationed nine miles south of Seoul with the 52nd Field Artillery Battalion, but had been granted recreation leave over Thanksgiving in Tokyo, Japan. He said he will be home within 30 days to spend Christmas.

Mrs. Durst, who is employed in the office at Miners Hospital, said she talked with her husband for six minutes, had a clear connection and they could hear each other as well as if the call had been a local one.
